

Jeffrey D. Lybarger
Associate Vice President

Jeffrey D. Lybarger is an Associate Vice President for the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C) responsible for the daily operations, grant management, and oversight of NW3C economic crime and intelligence training. Prior to his current position, Jeff served as the Director of Training, Manager of the High-Tech Crimes Section, Supervisor of the Internet Crime Complaint Center, NW3C Training Instructor, and NW3C Internet Crime Analyst.

As the Director of Training, Jeff was responsible for overseeing the economic crime and intelligence analysis curriculum and training. In this capacity, Jeff oversaw the planning, assignment, and direction of NW3C training instructors and curriculum development staff. Jeff was also responsible for grant management, budgeting, and resource allocation.

As the Manager of the High-Tech Crimes Section, Jeff oversaw the daily operations of all cybercrime related classes, curriculum, and personnel. Responsibilities also included creating partnerships with digital forensic tool providers, scheduling of classes, technical writing, and grant management.

Prior to managing the High-Tech Crimes Section, Jeff was the Supervisor of the Internet Crime Complaint Center (IC3), a joint partnership between NW3C and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) in Fairmont, WV. While in this capacity, Jeff was responsible for overseeing the tasks and analytical functions of several NW3C analysts as it related to Internet crime investigations.

Previously, Jeff spent over ten years as a Training Instructor teaching financial crime investigations and intelligence analysis classes to thousands of law enforcement officers nationwide. Topics included identity theft, money laundering, security fraud investigations, link charting, crime pattern analysis, i2 Analyst Notebook, interviewing techniques, and using social media/open source information for investigations.

Before he joined the Training Division, Jeff worked as an Internet Crime Analyst where he reviewed and analyzed all Internet crime-related complaints and assisted local and state-wide law enforcement agencies with criminal investigations.

Jeff currently sits on Advisory Boards for Marshall University's Digital Forensic program and the Cybercrime Support Network (CSN). Jeff is a Certified Economic Crime Forensic Examiner (CECFE). He has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice and a master's degree from West Virginia University.
