

Joshua Santy
Curriculum and Content
Development Manager

Josh Santy is a Curriculum and Content Development Manager at the National White Collar Crime Center (NW3C) responsible for managing a team of curriculum developers, e-learning developers, and multimedia specialists who collectively develop products including classroom training, online training, marketing materials, websites, written publications, and videos.

Josh began his career at NW3C in 2007 as a Curriculum Developer. Since starting, Josh has assisted in the development and facilitation of several in-person courses including Intellectual Writing and Briefing (IWAB), Financial Investigations Practical Skills (FIPS), Intellectual Property Theft Training (IPTT), and Targeting Investment Fraud (TIF). In 2011, Josh developed NW3C's first online training courses which included Basic Computer Skills for Law Enforcement, Identifying and Seizing Electronic Evidence, and Encryption. In 2014, Josh's responsibilities shifted to supervising and growing NW3C's online training program to provide the law enforcement community with more extensive training opportunities. More recently, Josh has facilitated and managed profitable online training opportunities for NW3C. In addition to his involvement with NW3C's in-person and online training, Josh managed the launch and update of several websites including nw3c.org, teamcyberswat.org, iacpcybercenter.org, and iptheft.org.

Josh is a graduate of Fairmont State University where he obtained a bachelor's degree in Graphic Design and Technology in 2005 and an AutoCAD Certification in 2006.
